Justice Siddons Orders Bar Committee to Look Into Contempt Charges.

(Associated Press.)

Any hope that Government counsel may have had that there would be further defections from the ranks of the Burns detectives apparently was dashed yesterday as the Sinclair-Hall oil trial jury surveillance case practically was rested before the grand jury after more than two weeks of inquiry.

For more than an hour Assistant District Attorney Burkhawm hammered away at Charles G. Ruddy, who directed the operations of the men shadowing the Teapot Dome trial jurors, but there was no indication that he had succeeded in obtaining any corroboration of the startling story of William J. McDuffin, a former Burns man, about the fabrication of reports so that the defense might move for a mistrial if that course should have been found necessary.

Coincided with the near completion of the Government's case, Justice Frederick L. Siddons, who presided at the Fall-Sinclair criminal conspiracy hearing, issued an order appointing three members of the Washington bar to make an investigation to determine whether there had been a criminal contempt of the District of Columbia Supreme Court in connection with the oil trial.

Kidwell Case Under Scrutiny.
This inquiry probably will be directed largely to charges of J. Ray Akers, former street car conductor and Donald K. King, a newspaper reporter, that Edward J. Kidwell, jr., juror No. 11, discussed the trial freely and stated that he would be disgraced if he did not come out of the case with an automobile "as long as this block."

Automatic Attorney Gordon, John E. Lasky, a former district attorney, and James B. Keady-Smith are to conduct the inquiry for the court and bring any contempt proceedings they may deem warranted by the facts they obtain "to the end that the authority and power of the court be vindicated, sustained and enforced."

Kidwell has denied all of the charges made by Akers and King and countered with a request that they be cited for contempt of the court in approaching a juror during the trial. Justice Siddons yesterday set next Friday for a hearing on this petition.

Under the court order, the scope of this inquiry would encompass the activities of the Burns men, since Justice Siddons referred directly to the activities of the Burns men in his decision filed by two assistant district attorneys dealing with the raid on the apartment of the Burns operatives at the Washington Park Hotel.

Only three witnesses were heard yesterday by the grand jury, William J. Burns and his son, W. Sherman Burns, appearing at their own request after the grilling of Ruddy had been concluded. They were in the grand jury room at the request of the court, which allowed to testify on the stipulation that they would undertake no "stump speeches" to the jurors.

All of the district attorneys who testified the oil trial jury were excused yesterday by District Attorney Gordon at the request of William J. Burns and upon his promise to produce any and all of them as they might be needed in the case. William J. and his son also were excused after they had testified.

Before the grand jurors decide whether they are to make a presentment, the district attorneys will lay before them certain telegrams and other documentary evidence which is now being gathered and correlated for easy inspection by the jury.

William J. Burns last night stated that he and his son, W. Sherman Burns, had been before the grand jury and made their statements, and had completed their testimony, and stated that they stood ready to amplify it at any time.

Mr. Burns and his son stated that they intended to give out a further detailed statement, which they considered extremely important, and should go to the public, but were advised by their counsel, Mr. Charles A. Douglas, of Douglas, Osber & Douglas, that this bare announcement of what had taken place would be sufficient, and if there are any further statements to be given out same will be done by Mr. Charles A. Douglas.

A. W. DUNN, JUNIOR RED CROSS DIRECTOR, DEAD

Death Is Attributed to Heart Attack; Services to Be Held Tomorrow.

WAS EDUCATOR OF NOTE

Arthur W. Dunn, director of the American Junior Red Cross, died suddenly at his residence, 1409 Thirtieth street northwest, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. His death was attributed to heart attack.

His passing came as a shock to his coworkers at the Red Cross national headquarters. He was at his office Monday and after having dinner with friends, complained of feeling ill.

As director of the Junior Red Cross, Mr. Dunn became internationally known. The organization, under his direction, was established in each of the 46 nations of the world. He assumed the directorship in 1920 and since then the society has developed a membership of 6,000,000 American boys and girls.

Prior to his connection with the Red Cross, Mr. Dunn was well known as an educator and author. For two years he was a member of the faculty of the University of Cincinnati, and later he was director of civic education for Indianapolis public schools, executive secretary of the Public Education Association of New York City and specialist in civic education for the United States Bureau of Education. He is the author of books on civics and government.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Allison B. Dunn, of San Francisco, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry J. Hunt, wife of Lieut. Hunt, U. S. A., now stationed at Fort McKinley, Philippine Islands. Funeral arrangements were not completed last night, but the rites will be held tomorrow.

Court Rites 'Tips' Not Warrant for Search

Anonymous "tips" that automobiles are carrying whiskey is not sufficient information to warrant the police in stopping and searching such cars, Judge John F. McMahon ruled yesterday in Police Court. If, however, a car is stopped on such information the police may search it, or, if they are warranted in seizing and searching it, the court held.

The ruling was made in the case of Burton Carter, of 78 E street southwest, and Edwin Holmes, of 811 M street northwest, both colored. They had been arrested by Sgt. George Little acting on an anonymous tip that their automobiles contained whiskey. He testified that after he had stopped the car, however, he saw suspicious packages and he searched the car. The two colored men were found guilty by a jury after two hours' deliberation. Assistant District Attorney Raymond Neuker appeared for the Government.

His passing came as a shock to his coworkers at the Red Cross national headquarters. He was at his office Monday and after having dinner with friends, complained of feeling ill.

HOME UNDER GUARD AFTER
MOTHER FOILS KIDNAPERS

Mrs. George Havercamp,
Armed With Butcher Knife,
Routed Two Intruders.

SOUGHT 2-YEAR-OLD BOY

Police of the Second Precinct were instructed last night to guard the home of Mrs. George Havercamp, at 1209 O street northwest, against the return of two colored men who attempted to kidnap her 2-year-old son, George, Monday night and were frightened away when she attacked them with a butcher knife.

Mrs. Havercamp became aware of the presence of the men in her house when the baby cried for her. Rushing into the room where he had been sleeping in his crib, Mrs. Havercamp saw one colored man bending over him and another standing nearby. Grabbing a butcher knife from the table, she rushed at the men and stabbed at one of them. She believes that she wounded him.

She talked to the baby on the street and aided to the ground on a telephone pole. Hospital officials were instructed to look out for the wounded man, but they reported yesterday that no one suffering from such a wound applied for treatment. Neighbors told Mrs. Havercamp they had seen a colored man answering the description of one of the men who she frightened away, who talked to the baby on the street several times.

Mrs. Havercamp said that as one of the men leaped from the window, he shouted: "I'll get him yet!" The men wore gloves and left no fingerprints back upon the wall.

PARADE HELD PREPARATORY TO
INITIATION OF 75 CANDIDATES
INTO ORDER

Parade Held Preparatory to
Initiation of 75 Candidates
Into Order.

BOYS' BAND A FEATURE OF COLORFUL EVENT

Senator Blaise Among Speakers at Ceremony Held in Pythian Temple.

Sweeping down in full paint and feathers, with war whoops and dances, 600 Red Men, their "aquas," or even "paposes," took possession of downtown Washington last night with a 45-minute parade through the main streets.

The demonstration was preparatory to the holding of a class adoption of 75 candidates into the Improved Order of Red Men from Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Headed by Chief Marshal James J. Meeker, the parade was led by the South Carolina, Chief Marshal William H. King and George E. Baxter, and the degree team of the American Knights of Nem Der, the parade formed at Sixth street and Louisiana avenue, northwest and proceeded along Pennsylvania avenue to Twelfth street, to H street, to Sixth street, to D street, and then back to the Pythian Temple at 1014 Ninth street.

At the Pythian Temple the Red Men went into secret convocations to perform the initiation ceremony. The ceremony was held in the Pythian Temple at 1014 Ninth street.

Speakers at the exercises were announced as Robert T. Crowe, Louisville, Ky., president of the order, Harry Guthrie, great senior squire; Senator Cole Blaise, past great squire of South Carolina; and Herbert C. Blaise, great chief of the order of the Great Council of the United States.

Girl Leads Boys' Band.

One of the features of the parade was Maj. Clinton Brown's Washington Boys' Independent Band of 74 young men, led by Miss Ethel H. Brown, who led the boys as drum major, and kept them at their post of furnishing pep music could push him to the limit.

Other bands in the line of march were the drum and bugle corps of the United States Army, the band of the White Eagle Council, composed of white and colored girls in red jackets and white skirts.

Accident Averted.

An accident was narrowly averted at Tenth street and Pennsylvania avenue when the saddle on the fiery mount of Chief John Coulter, of White Eagle Council, slipped and nearly threw him to the ground. The chief, a man of considerable avoidpudence, hung tenaciously to his horse's neck until Red and white riders could pull him back to place.

The Idaho Council, No. 1, District of Columbia, attracted much attention in the parade, depicting various scenes in the life of the state. The Idaho Council, No. 1, District of Columbia, attracted much attention in the parade, depicting various scenes in the life of the state.

30 ST. KISSING. DEATH TOLL $ 26 IN GAS TANK BLAST

Pittsburgh Relief Worker Is Killed in Search for the Victims.

CITY TO AID BUILDING HOMES OF WORKMEN

Structures in the Devastated Region Must Be Pulled Down at Once.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—With the removal tonight of two more bodies from the explosion-torn Pittsburgh Clay Pot plant and the death in a hospital of one of the injured, the death toll in yesterday's disastrous gas tank explosion had reached 26.

The bodies of two unidentified victims of the blast were removed from the rear cellar of the Clay Pot plant and taken to the county morgue for identification. Buried water mains had allowed tons of water to pour into the cellar and made rescue work impossible in that section of the plant until tonight.

Rescue workers generally, however, believed the fatalism would mount when the task of clearing away the jumbled wreckage of the Pittsburgh Clay Pot Co. has been completed.

Of the 32 men killed, one of the chief sufferers in the blast that killed more than a score, injured 500 others and caused property damage running into the millions, announced late today that a revised check-up had revealed that 30 of the 117 men at work in the plant at the time of the explosion were missing. Six were killed outright, a dozen or so are in hospitals, and some 70 reported themselves safe. Plant officials pointed out, however, that the list of the 32 men listed as missing probably were safe, but had failed to report.

None Missing Elsewhere.

Check-ups of employees at all other factories ravaged by the explosion showed every man accounted for, so that the wreckage of the Clay Pot Co. holds the secret of the extent, if any, the death toll will mount.

Great progress was made in removing the tangled ruins of the Clay Pot Co., which was located immediately adjacent to the main plant.

IN 1923, KRESGE SAYS

Chain-Store Owner, Suing Broker, Tells Court of Financial Status.

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Sebastian Kresge, chain-store owner, testified in court today that through stock operations which turned out unfortunately for him he was in debt to brokers for $10,000,000 in 1923.

The testimony in Kresge's suit for $685,000 against W. E. Hutton & Co., brokers, on the ground that in 1924 this firm without his consent sold that amount of stock to the public, was heard in the federal court today.

In 1923, Kresge said, he and his family owned 50 per cent of his company's stock. Asked if this statement still was true, he said "not guilty."

Kresge has figured largely in the courts in the past few years, generally as the result of his stock operations. He is now suing Hutton & Co. on the ground that before they were married he promised her a large marriage settlement and instead of this he sold her stock out of one of his own 5-and-10-cent stores.

La Follette Backers Will Seek Delegates

Milwaukee, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Senators John J. Blaine and Robert M. La Follette, Zena Gale, author, and Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the University of Wisconsin board of regents, will carry the La Follette banner into the state fight for delegates to large to the Republican national convention. They were endorsed today by the state conference of progressive Republicans here.

With no opposition, the four were delegated to make the run with the backing of the La Follette progressive group.

Archbishop Curley in Appeal for Cooperation in the Drive to Raise $40,000 for the Catholic Charities of 1928

Archbishop Curley, in appealing for cooperation in the drive to raise $40,000 for the Catholic Charities of 1928, said that the drive is the greatest work of the year and that the human mind can apply itself to the task of raising the money. He said, and comes before church or school. All Catholics, he declared, have a duty to help those Catholics in want.

The archbishop asked that at the banquet to get behind the project for building a new St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, and he praised the work of Rev. John O'Grady, director of the Catholic Charities. Joseph P. Tumulty also spoke.

Francis J. O'Connor, president of the Catholic Charities, reported that 1,098 families had been aided in the last year, most of them involving cases of non-support and desertion, unemployment and ill health.

Entertainment was provided by George O'Connor and Matt Horne. Robert O'Connor, Hanel, Abel, Mabel Latimer and Mary Louise Sullivan.

Guests pledged $8,649 of the $40,000 that is sought.

Four Hospital Doctors in Liquor Scandal

Chicago, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Four physicians on the staff of the Edward Hines, Jr. Memorial Hospital staff have been suspended for 90 days pending investigation, hospital officials said today, of sales of liquor prescriptions.

The superintendent of the hospital said that the four doctors had been suspended as previously reported.

Col. R. W. O'Connell, commandant of the institution, and three other physicians on the staff, were not involved in the investigation.

Appointment as Guardian Asked.

Mrs. Stella H. Stapleton, widow of Daniel C. Stapleton, who died May 3, 1926, petitioned the Probate Court yesterday for appointment as guardian of the estate of her 12-year-old daughter, Stella P. Stapleton. The daughter is entitled to one-half of her father's estate which amounts to about $16,000, the court was informed. Attorneys Hamilton & Hamilton appeared for Mrs. Stapleton.

Over 1,000 Cafritz Lifetime Homes Built and Sold

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Harold Lomas, 34, dreamed of married life as one long honeymoon. He was married before Judge Jones in the court of domestic relations today that when he was courting Gertrude, whom he later married, she was a registered nurse with sumptuous meals, "fit for a king."

"After we were married" he told the court, "I learned that my wife could not be a nurse and a housewife. She had been prepared by her married sister."

Mrs. Lomas, in defense, said her husband expected her to provide a costly table without any money.

Judge Jones recommended that Lomas buy his wife a cook book, give her money to buy food and to exercise patience.

Lincoln Stock Owners Ask $6,000,000 of Ford

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Decision was reserved today in the suit of Mrs. Mary Copple Thaw, mother of Harry K. Thaw, to recover $6,000,000 which, in 1926, she gave her grandson, Lawrence Copple Thaw.

Thaw denied his grandmother's allegation that she had made the presentation against her better judgment because he had exercised undue influence upon her. The gift, he testified, was made voluntarily and without coercion by Mrs. Thaw's legal representatives.

Douglas Robinson Suffers From Stroke

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Douglas Robinson, 32 years old, son of Theodore Douglas Robinson, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, has suffered a slight stroke of infantile paralysis, his father disclosed here today.

The youth's father, who came to New York from Washington Sunday night when his son was first taken ill, said that the stroke is not serious and that doctors say the patient will recover in two months.

Soggy Runway Holds Transpacific Aviator

San Francisco, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Capt. Frederick A. Giles has postponed the start of his proposed 12,000-mile flight to New Zealand, scheduled today.

A rain-soaked runway at Mills Field, where Giles' plane was prepared for the flight, caused postponement. He plans to attempt a take-off tomorrow.

World Sugar Interests Agree to Limit Output

Paris, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Cuba took effective lead of the world's sugar interests today when suggestions of Col. Jose Tarafa, head of the Cuban sugar defense committee, were incorporated in an agreement signed by the biggest exporters of the sugar world to permit the industry to wait for consumption to catch up with production.

The agreement which is for the control of exportation as well as production, is effective for one year and is renewable at the end of that period. It provides for the admission of all sugar exporting countries.

Only the general outlines of the agreement were given out today, as there are some details, it was explained, which the signers desired to reserve for explanation to other sugar interests likely to come into the combination before the details are given to the general public.

However, it was declared there was nothing in the agreement that could be interpreted as tending toward establishing a cartel or a combination in restraint of trade.

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Agreement by Polish, German, Czechoslovakian and Cuban representatives to apportion sugar exports to restore the balance between consumption and supply in the world was greeted in New York markets today by advance of at more than $3 a share in the quotations for stocks of sugar refining companies. The stock exchange of New York and Cuba Cane Sugar were accumulated in large amounts, while National Sugar Refining advanced to the curb gained $2.75 a share.

Police See Motive in Highlands Killing

Highlands, N. J., Nov. 15 (A.P.).—A story told to Prosecutor John J. A. Gurney by Mrs. Susan Meisterknecht, of Yonkers, N. Y., today led that officials to the belief that he had found the motive for the slaying of Herbert O. Meisterknecht, inventor and engineer.

Coming from Yonkers with her 15-year-old daughter, Mrs. Meisterknecht declared she never had been divorced from the slain man, and that they had separated about two years ago when he told her he loved the woman who was known as the second Mrs. Meisterknecht.

Mrs. Sophie Schreiber Meisterknecht, whose brother, Alex Schreiber, is being sought as the man who yesterday fired four bullets into the inventor's back and head, is under $10,000 bonds as a material witness.

$50,000 Damages Asked

Charles E. Tarrant, a stone mason, of Clarendon, Va., filed suit yesterday in Circuit Court against the United States & Co., contractors, of 23 N. street northeast, to recover $50,000 damages for alleged personal injuries. Through Attorney Albert D. Baker the plaintiff alleged that on March 30, 1925, while employed by the defendant concern at an apartment house at 2514 Connecticut avenue several heavy stones fell on him.

Second Liberty Loan Bonds Retired by U. S.

Associated Press.

In so far as its creditors would allow, the United States yesterday took up and paid off one of its greatest war loans, the second Liberty bond issue of $8,807,000,000.

The bonds involved were so large that Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, refused to make any estimate as to how successful the government's efforts to retire the second Liberty had been. Not until the twelve Federal Reserve Banks make their report late this week will the Treasury be enabled to tell how many of the bonds remain outstanding, though interest upon them ceased yesterday.

Bill Represents Balance on Costs of Army of Occupation

Germany still owes the United States $224,221,398 on account of the costs of the army of occupation, it was revealed yesterday when the annual report of Gen. Kenzie W. Walker, chief of finance of the Army, was made public. Payments already made by Germany to satisfy the costs of the occupational troops amount to $8,919,849, according to the report.

Gen. Walker in his report emphasized the value which is accruing from the new plan of the Army of paying cash for materials used. He reports that during the last fiscal year the Army has been able to save $238,248 resulting from commercial discounts received through cash payments.

The Army continued its policy of disposing of surplus war materials left by foreign countries at the close of the war. The total amount of such sales is set forth in the report as being $328,231,755.

Five Fishermen Crawl To Safety Over Ice

Gimli, Manitoba, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Five fishermen crawled ashore today across a 5-mile strip of treacherous ice from their open launch, after spending 36 hours in the craft, locked in a huge ice field.

It took the fishermen more than two hours to trek the 5 miles. They came ashore suffering from exposure.

An ice breaker, sent to their assistance, also became fast in the ice, but later freed itself.

Ruth Elder's Husband Embarks, Denying Rift

Ocean Flier Bids Him Farewell at Pier; Will Join Him Later, He Says.

New York, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Ruth Elder, mid-Atlantic flier, snatched a few moments from her business conferences today to bid farewell to her husband, Lyle Womack, as he embarked for his home in Balboa, Panama.

As she had to hurry back to another business meeting the farewell took place on the pier before a crowd of some 200 interested travelers, stevedores, and news photographers.

"Everything is all right," Womack told reporters after posing with his arm around Mrs. Elder. "I've got a date with the plane tomorrow morning and I'll be back in Balboa. She's going through with her present program—I think it's a lecture tour—and then she says she's coming back to me. People can forget all about this talk of our being separated. I've had a long serious talk with Ruth and we understand each other. There's nothing in the talk of separation."

Reporters were careful to call the aviatrix's husband "Mr. Womack," remembering his hot anger when she scribbled referred to him as "Mr. Ruth Elder" on the day his wife came back from France.

"Ruth is a good, level-headed girl," Womack said after his wife had kissed him good-bye to the accompanying click of cameras on a picturesque of a stairway to the pier's upper level. "She won't do anything unseemly, and when she has completed her program she will join me in Balboa."

Iowa Corn Husker Is Again Champion

Winnebago, Minn., Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Matching his skill against the best in the West, Fred Stanek, 28-year-old Iowa farmer, today successfully defended his national corn husking title in an 80-minute contest. Ears bearing a coating of sleet over rain-soaked husks held the champion down to the lowest total he has ever collected in a national or State meet. His net picking was 164 bushels, many 248 bushels short of the total he registered in winning the Iowa crown.

Trial of the action will be resumed tomorrow at 10 o'clock at which time the Mannetti deposition again will be taken up.

CUSTOMIZED CLOTHES

From the Land of Peruvian Pottery Comes the New Material

Llamando

BEFORE Pizarro conquered Peru, daughters of Inca chiefs were weaving wonderful fabrics from the hair of the Llama.

And now an American weaver, using solely these long, silky fibers, has produced the remarkable new cloth, Llamando.

And Hickey-Freeman, America's finest tailors of garments ready to wear, taking all of this cloth that's woven, have made for us Llamando Year-Around-Coats for men.

A soft, luxurious fabric that is a delight to touch, superbly tailored into coats that are a delight to wear. And such colorings!

From light tan to rich black, in plain colors or attractive patterns, in either the straight hanging Ascot model, or the Raglan, or the double-breasted Polo Coat.

PRESIDENT IS FIRM FOR AMERICAN RULE IN THE PHILIPPINES

Holds Autonomy Must Wait on Fulfillment of Promises by Filipinos.

QUEZON ENTERS DENIAL OF PUBLISHED REPORTS

Declares That He and Osmena Are Not Working on Colonial Plan.

President Coolidge yesterday threw a damper on plans for the sapping of American strength in the Philippine Islands. He still stands fast on his policy that Filipino autonomy is contingent on the performance of promises and that the islands are not yet ready for complete self-government.

He also admonished the "Independents" agitators in no uncertain terms, expressing the view that he strongly believed that all would work out better if the terms of the Jones law—the present organic act—were received sympathetically by the members of the Filipino government. The President feels this to be true in spite of the fact that he has the broadest kind of sympathy for their aims.

Mr. Coolidge hopes that the Filipinos will work out their problems under the Jones law because this, he thinks, will test their capacity for self-government. His stand on this question was clearly reiterated yesterday when he recalled the views which he had expressed in a letter to Manuel Roxas, then speaker of the Philippine House, in 1924, and his veto last spring of the bill for a plebiscite on the question of independence.

Frowned on Plebiscite.

In the first of these statements he declared that further autonomy was contingent on the performance of the promises made by the Filipinos. The second expressed the view that the political condition of the islands made it impossible for a plebiscite to be truly representative of the popular will.

It was made clear at the White House that the direction cabled to acting Governor General Ollmore for the furtherance of the bill to be passed by the Philippine legislature establishing the governor general's civilian advisory staff were sent without the President's knowledge.

Indeed President Coolidge expressed doubt that Maj. Gen. McIntyre, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, was committed to the proposal for the establishment of the so-called "British system" in the islands.

This is seen here as illustrative of the kaleidoscopic state of Philippine affairs given the fact that Manuel Quezon, president of the senate, is reported to have recently cabled to Manila that the President favored passage of the civilian advisory bill by the legislature.

Coolidge Bans Personalities.

The President cautioned his visitors to realize that the whole Philippine question can not be considered on a personal basis. The law said "about personalities, the President feels, the better."

Gen. McIntyre declined to comment on the developments. It was said, however, by those close to him that he had for some time been familiar with the plan to have the Philippine legislature create the governor general's advisory staff and that he had thought it might be a good plan and might be a step toward better cooperation between the Philippines and the United States. Nothing new could be learned on the corollary proposal to this one which would prevent these advisors from making provincial inspections or taking any part in government.

Manuel Quezon, issued the following statement yesterday giving the expected denial of published reports:

"The story which appeared in the morning papers to the effect that Gen. McIntyre and I, with the support of Gen. Quezon, are working out a plan looking toward the establishment of a Canadian form of government for the Philippines in substitution for the present one, is absolutely untrue. We have not discussed the matter with either Gen. McIntyre or the War Department. We are not aware of any such plan, alleged to be sponsored by former Gov. Frank W. Carpenter."

REMUS WINS TWO POINTS AT HIS TRIAL

sworn a thirteenth emergency juror must be qualified.

The first special panel of 75 veniremen was near exhaustion tonight and Judge Shook had the jury wheel set up in court and a new special panel of 50 drawn.

Outside the courtroom were two other interesting developments today. Four van loads of furniture Remus alleged was stripped from his mansion here while he served a sentence in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary for his wholesale bootlegging activities were stored in two warehouses here held in the name of the slain Mrs. Remus. Remus sought possession of the furniture upon writs of replevin.

Remus himself heralded the action in court today when he penned this note to newspaper reporters: "Replevin writ will issue today. All my law books have been discovered as a result of the publicity on motion. Hidden in garage. Can you beat it? Hurrah!"

The motion he referred to was granted yesterday by Judge Shook and directed that Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., and three of Mrs. Remus' relatives be summoned to bring it to court papers Remus asserted he knew they obtained from his home and other places while he served in the penitentiary.

The other development was the arrival in Cincinnati of Dodge, the former prohibition agent Remus holds responsible for his position of former convict and wife slayer.

Prosecutor Taft said that he had conferred with Dodge in a downtown hotel, but denied that he knew Dodge's whereabouts after the conversation.

"He will be available, however," Mr. Taft added. Remus was much exercised upon receipt of a report that agents from the prosecutor's office had demanded the presence of Mrs. George Conners, wife of his secretary. He called it "intimidation" and said if it were repeated he would appeal to the court.

Mention of Conners' name as "tenant" of Remus brought an angry denial today between Remus and the prosecution. Remus contended that Judge Shook agreed with him that Conners be referred to as secretary. Another extra salaried juror was called when Mascher J. Wurmila, Jr., was accepted as the eleventh tentative juror, despite a plea that his daughter was to be married tomorrow morning. Mr. Wurmila assumed appeal when Judge Shook said he would send "an officer of the court" to the wedding with Mr. Wurmila, but his apprehension was allayed when the court explained the officer would not be a uniformed policeman. "I'll send a bailiff of your own religious faith," promised the judge.

The financial and economic survey of Nicaragua to be made by Dr. William W. Cumberland will be for the purpose of providing the Nicaraguan government and the State Department with his recommendation regarding the advisability of a loan for Nicaragua.

An announcement yesterday said Dr. Cumberland's salary and expenses would be paid by the State Department.

Union Business Agent Killed During Election

Chicago, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Martin Burns was shot and killed today and his brother, Charles, was wounded during an election row among members of the Amalgamated Street and Electrical Railway Employees who met to elect a member of the executive board. Martin Burns was business agent of the union. George O'Connor, one of the candidates for the board membership, fled after the shooting.

The Fierce Bright Flame

"TAKE OFF your sweater, Doris—you're a regular little oven." Strange how literally that is true!

For night and day, the growing bodies of our children are burning almost fiercely with a flame too bright for any mortal eye to see—the flame of life itself.

"Metabolism" the textbooks call it. Brighter, hotter, more swiftly consuming in childhood than in later years.

And how carefully it must be fed: for only out of the fuel you give it can strong bones, firm muscles, sound healthful teeth be built.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere today are giving more and more time and thought to the selection of the right foods.

And why, to two generations of Washington women, the Corby name has meant so much.

It has meant not only better bread—but better bodies for thousands of Washington children.

And better appetites in many a Washington home.

Baked, every rich golden loaf of it, in a plant as spotless as your kitchen—baked with finer ingredients, better equipment, higher skill than ordinary baking calls for—no wonder thoughtful mothers depend on Corby's Mother's Bread to help fill the energy requirements of their children.

No wonder Corby's Mother's is the most popular bread in all this city today!

Your own grocer has this finely flavored nourishing loaf—Get it today.

Your Farm around the Corner

Did you know you had one? We all have—Small, perhaps, yet no ordinary farm of a hundred acres could begin to rival it—for it's your grocery store. Actually, if your grocer weren't there—if nobody's grocer were there—do you realize we'd all have to move out of the city and back on to farms of our own? He performs a valuable public service—this fellow-citizen of yours, and his advice is worth having when you buy.

Notice the firm, even texture of Corby's Mother's Bread. See how much its full, rich flavor adds to each meal.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES REVISION OF TARIFF AS FARM AID PLAN

Nagel Commission's Proposal
Meets With No Approval
at White House.

SENATORS IN ACCORD WITH PRESIDENT'S VIEW

McNary and Smoot Both Take Stand Against "Tinkering" With Schedules.

(Associated Press.)
Although he intends to deal with the farm relief question with an open mind, President Coolidge is prepared to resist any attempts to adjust agricultural difficulties by a downward revision of certain tariff duties.

He feels, it was disclosed at the White House yesterday, that agriculture will prosper most, along with the country in general, under protection of the tariff, and his views are expected to receive support from administration leaders in Congress.

In letting it be known that tariff revision, as favored for agriculture by a business men's commission headed by Charles Nagel, former Assistant Secretary of the Commerce Department, did not meet the President's favor, it was said that Mr. Coolidge, nevertheless, expected to find some helpful facts in the commission's report. That part which recommended an elimination of railroad rates so as to provide cheaper transportation for farm products was said to interest the President, but it was pointed out that Mr. Coolidge already had approved a resolution which had this end in view.

Senators Oppose Plan.

The disfavor which the tariff recommendations of the Nagel report appeared to have incurred at the White House already had been manifested among Republican Senators at the Capitol. Senator McNary, of Oregon, coauthor of the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill, has declared that he did not believe that a revision of the tariff would help the farmer much, and Chairman Smoot, of the Senate finance committee, which has jurisdiction over tariff legislation, has let it be known that he will vigorously oppose any efforts to "tinker" with the tariff structure.

Mr. Coolidge expects to proceed in the solution of the farm relief problem under the theory that agriculture will be benefited more by putting into practice methods designed to stimulate the home market for farm products.
This, he feels, can be brought about most quickly by reducing taxes and by bringing about a situation where business, in general, will go forward confidently.

Mr. Work's Pointer On Auction Bridge

THIS week our tests are upon the question of how a Declarer should plan his campaign. Two hands are given each day, and the way the Declarer should plan to play them is explained on the succeeding day.

In both Nos. 3 and 4 the contract is
No Trump, and the original lead is the Queen of Spades, won with the Queen in Closed Hand. How should Declarer plan his campaign?

No. 3. Against sound defense, Declarer is not apt to make more than two Spades, two Hearts, two Diamonds and five Clubs, or eleven tricks.
A Small Slam is only remotely possible;
bad adverse discarding might produce it, but the chance is not worth considering. Should Declarer make the natural play and try to run the five Clubs immediately, he will make only three Club tricks. If the adverse five Clubs be divided 4-1 instead of the probable 3-2. Should he make only three Club tricks, and should the King of Diamonds be held by West, his total winning would be two Spades, two Hearts, one Diamond and three Clubs—one trick short of game. To insure game he should deliberately lose one immaterial Club trick by leading a

In both of the above hands the Declarer is playing a No Trump contract.
The original lead is the Jack of Diamonds won with the Queen in Closed Hand.

Experts Play Radio Bridge

Radio Bridge Game No. 3, broadcast from Station WRC last night, was an excellent demonstration of expert modern bidding.

With Mr. Whitehead was paired the recognized authority on the mathematical features of Auction Bridge—Mr. E.
V. Shepard, of New York, president of Shepard's Bridge Studio. Mr. Work had for partner Mr. Frank H. Bachman, of Philadelphia, one of the Quaker City's best players.

With the hands: Mr. Whitehead, dealer, South—Spades, A, J, 10, 9; Hearts 8; Diamonds K, Q, J, 7, 3;
Clubs, K, J, 8.
Mr. Work, West—Spades, 7, 6; Hearts,
A, K, 7, 5, 3; Diamonds, 8, 5; Clubs, 7, 6, 4, 2.
Mr. Shepard, North—Spades, K, Q,
4; Hearts, 10, 8, 4, 2; Diamonds, A, 9,
2; Clubs, 9, 5, 3.
Mr. Bachman, East—Spades, 8, 5, 3,
2; Hearts, Q, J, 9; Diamonds, 10, 6, 4;
Clubs, A, Q, 10.

Mr. Whitehead, the dealer, had a hand with many possibilities. He had No Trump strength, but his singleton Heart was a menace to that bid. Of his two other possible bids, Spades or Diamonds, he preferred the four-card
major to the five-card minor, bidding
one Spade with the intention of showing his Diamonds later should occasion demand. This was in line with the best modern practice which holds that an Ace-Jack-10 four-card suit is worth an original bid, if supported, as in this hand, with side strength greater than one quick trick.

Mr. Whitehead also might have bid a Diamond originally, planning to bid No Trump if his partner bid a Heart, or to make an informative double if the opponents bid the Hearts. This double would have given Mr. Shepard, Mr.
Whitehead's partner, a choice between Spades, Diamonds and Clubs. Mr.
Whitehead, however, evidently decided that his Clubs were not strong enough for this scheme of bidding; therefore he named his Spade suit first.

West Bids Two Hearts.
Mr. Work, West, bid two Hearts. He had strength enough—two quick tricks
in Hearts—for even an original bid.
Mr. Shepard, North, said two Spades, an astute bid fully justified by the cards of his partner's suit headed by King-Queen, and his side Ace.

Mr. Bachman went to three Hearts.
Here is where Mr. Whitehead showed the high caliber of his game. His partner had named Mr. Whitehead's original Spade bid, thus showing at least normal support and two probable tricks.
Most players with that encouragement and with Mr. Whitehead's strength would have continued the suit that seemed to fit the two hands, by bidding three Spades.

But Mr. Whitehead appreciated that by shifting his suit to Diamonds he could show that he held only four Spades and had five strong Diamonds.
As he would not shift up to the partner and would leave it up to the partner to go on with Spades if his hand justified, Mr. Whitehead realized that with Hearts adversely called and assisted, he would be compelled to trump, which he could not afford to do with his four-card Spade suit unless his partner also held four. Therefore, Mr.
Whitehead bid four Diamonds.

Mr. Work passed, as did Mr. Shepard.
Mr. Shepard understood and heeded the warning conveyed by his partner's switch to Diamonds, and having only normal length in the Spade suit, he allowed the Diamond bid to stand.

Four Diamonds Takes Bid.
Mr. Bachman also passed, giving Mr.
Whitehead the bid for four Diamonds.
Mr. Work led the King of Hearts, the conventional lead from an Ace-King suit against a suit declaration when holding more than two cards of the suit led.

Dummy went down, and Mr. Whitehead played from it the 2 of Hearts. Mr.
Bachman, upon seeing Dummy's hand, cleverly played his Queen of Hearts to show his holding of the Jack and thus induce his partner to lead low instead of continuing with the Ace, which would establish the 10 in Dummy on the third round. Declarer played his singleton 5.
Mr. Work, obeying his partner's signal, continued with the 6 of Hearts. Dummy played the 4. Mr. Bachman the 9, and Declarer trumped with the 3 of Diamonds.

Before leading to the next trick Mr.

PROTECTION POLICY IS STRONGLY URGED AT FARM CONGRESS

Speakers Declare American Farmer Should Be Secure
From Competition.

GRANGE HEARS SCHEME
OF EXPORT DEBENTURE

Iowa Spokesman Firm for
the McNary-Haugen Bill; Criticizes Jardine.

Kansas City, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Advocacy of protection for the American farmer from foreign competition in his home market was the keynote struck here today when the American Farm Congress convened in annual session to examine the ills of agriculture.

While the subject was not listed on the formal program of addresses, several speakers won applause from the more than 100 delegates when they declared the American farmer should be kept free from foreign invasion.

C. F. Curtis, dean of Iowa Agricultural College, who discussed the corn borer problem, stressed the need for protection for agriculture as well as other industries and his remarks found an echo in an address by R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

"We should preserve our own market for American farm products," declared Mr. Dunlap. "He said much had been done already in this direction.

Dean Curtis foresaw the time when the population of the United States would be sufficient to consume the products of America's farm and declared the bars must be kept up to prevent cheaper products from Europe and South America from destroying the balance of farm prices in the United States.

Cheap sorghum being imported into the United States for manufacture into industrial alcohol, Dean Curtis said, had cut off the sale of 150,000,000 bushels of corn grown on domestic farms.

Speaking as vice president of the Wichita Federal Farm Loan Bank, John Fields said farmers enjoyed easy credit facilities when the collateral was good and that the farmer would be much better off if he had nothing to mortgage.

"Agriculture is in better shape today than since 1920," Assistant Secretary Dunlap told the delegates. "The purchasing power of farm products is approaching the prewar level, if am reliably informed."

The resolutions committee reaffirmed the stand of the Congress in favor of cooperative marketing and pledged the organization to a continuation of its studies in crop selection and diversification.

A general statement on the question of taxation was approved pledging support to "efforts to bring about an equitization in the distribution of the burden of taxation with due consideration for the earning power of the source of revenue."

Grange Hears Export Plan.

Cleveland, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—Declaring that "too much has been said about farm relief and too little about equality in agriculture," Harry A.
Caton, Coahcoction, master of the Ohio State Grange, today presented a program favoring the export debenture plan before 4,000 Ohio farmers at the State Grange meeting here.

"To secure equality for agriculture," Caton declared, "we must combine behind a program that will provide for economic and orderly production, elimination of waste and utilization of farm crop in new ways, cooperation, taxation relief, and legislation including the export debenture plan."

Jardine Policies Assailed.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 15 (A.P.)—
Another battle in the fight for farm equality opened here today with the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America demanding corrective legislation at its annual convention.

Milo Reno, president of the Iowa
Farmers Union, declared that the Mc-Nary-Haugen bill should be passed by Congress in order that the farmers might take a step in solving their own problem.

Resentment over the policies of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine was expressed by Mr. Reno. As agriculture's representative in the Cabinet he declared the Secretary should devote his energies to carrying out the farmers' wishes rather than dictating their policies.

The corn belt committee, which has sponsored the McNary-Haugen bill in two sessions of Congress, today rededicated itself to the measure and just before adjourning in the early morning hours condemned Senator Borah (Republican, Idaho), as a "pretended friend of the farmer," who has become "a carping critic" instead of an aid to the farm cause.

FLOOD CONTROL PLANS.

Discussions of Mississippi River flood control have been taking place on two fronts during the last few days. In Washington the House flood control committee has been holding public hearings. In St. Louis many and sundry proposals have been put before meetings of the Mississippi Valley Association. The majority of the plans brought forth, as was anticipated, show signs of self-centered origin. There is the usual disposition to partake of pork. Millions are involved in the project; those who have been advocating local power, conservation or waterway projects show little intention of following the plea of Secretary of War Davis that "the Mississippi be kept out of politics and in its banks."

In Washington the American Farm Bureau Federation came forward with a more or less comprehensive scheme that contemplates strengthened, straightened and heightened levees, diversion channels or spillways, parallel channels or drainage ditches, reforestation, reservoirs and surveys of tributary streams to ascertain how navigation, power development and flood control can all be secured in one effort. On the surface, the plan, as most others, looks entirely feasible, yet it is complicated, unwieldy and expensive and shows no signs of competent origin.

The most interesting program put before the Mississippi Valley Association is known as the "Missouri Plan" and was detailed by its author, Senator Hawes, of Missouri. It provides, briefly, for the consolidation of all agencies of the Government with respect to flood control, navigation and conservation on the Mississippi and its tributaries under one Federal jurisdiction, and creates a commission of five members to be appointed by the President to prepare and execute a plan of control. It provides, further, for the expenditure of $1,000,000,000, to be raised by the issuance of bonds. The commission is to consist of two army and two civilian engineers and one "individual of experienced executive ability."

In the meantime, Gen. Jadwin has divulged tentative details of the Government plan prepared by Army engineers acting upon direct authority of the President with the aid of competent civilian consultants. Senator Hawes' "Missouri Plan" has certain commendable features, some of which possibly will be included in the final program. The appointment of a commission, for instance, undoubtedly will be found the best way to carry through such a comprehensive project as flood control, just as it was found the best way to manage Panama Canal construction.

The Government plan, however, will and should receive first consideration, representing, at it does, the result of many months' study, and many years' experience, by engineers thoroughly acquainted with the Mississippi floods, acting upon direct executive authority and having available at all times a full library of statistical and technical data. No other man or organization has had the opportunity to make a similar survey; hence no other plan can be as well formulated or complete. There is bound to be conflict in Congress over the question when finally it reaches the floor, particularly in view of the numerous and diverse suggestions that have already been put forth. Flood control may find itself lost in a maze of petty and selfish squabbles, despite the fact that it is one of the most important issues that ever has confronted the American people.

CANNED CORN.

Up to the year 1850 no one had ever seen a can of sweet corn. There was no such thing in existence. For nearly 50 years prior to that time preserved fruit and some few vegetables had been marketed by an enterprising New Englander named Underwood. Somewhere about the year 1850 Underwood, whose business had grown materially, began to use tin as well as glass for containers.

The man who first successfully packed corn in a tin can was Nathan Winslow, and the corn he packed was grown in Maine. One of those who assisted in the first packing was Winslow's nephew, Augustus C. Jones, who recently died in Portland, and his death brings to the recollection of a writer in the Boston Transcript reminiscences of the birth and growth of the industry which has made possible the use of sweet corn in every country on earth and on any day in the year. While the first pack of canned corn was made in Maine, Maryland soon took up the idea, and ever since there has been rivalry between Maine and Maryland for first place as corn-canning States.

After referring to the beginning of the industry the writer in the Boston paper says: "From these small beginnings the industry has spread to many States and increased in importance until from 200,000 to 300,000 acres are required to grow sufficient corn to supply the demand for the canned product."

But a statement of the acreage devoted to the growing of corn for canneries gives but a faint idea of the extent to which the corn-canning industry has expanded. The Department of Commerce, in response to a request for information as to amount packed annually, reports that while the pack for 1926 was somewhat below that of the preceding year, there were put up during the season of 1926 24,399,000 cases, 24 cases in the case, or a total of 583,580,000 cans.

Nathan Winslow and his nephew never dreamed that within 75 years their discovery of a method of sealing corn in a tin can would result within the lifetime of "Gus" in creating such a demand for tin cans that if those containers, each four inches high, should be placed end on end they would reach around the earth at the equator, with enough remaining to mark all the trails of tourists from Mount Katahdin to the crest of the Rockies.

PHILIPPINE AGITATION.

The latest story concerning the Philippine independence movement has to do with plans now being formulated by Manuel Quezon and Sergio Osmena, leaders of the independence group, to change the form of government to the so-called British colonial plan. Broadly, Quezon and Osmena plan to have the Philippines elect their own governor general, leaving a high commissioner as the only representative of the United States. The first move toward this end will be taken in the forthcoming Congress, when an attempt will be made to block the provisions of the Kessell bill. This legislation provides that funds raised by taxation on Philippine products in the United States be used for the support of expert assistants to the governor general in dealing with exterior relations, health, sanitation, judiciary and other matters. These experts would become the governor general's cabinet and would aid him in the inspection and administration of the islands. Quezon and Osmena, however, want to have the experts appointed by the Philippine Legislature, with the restriction that the experts would not be usable for "provincial inspections" or "participation in government."

It was reported that this movement had the support of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, but the report has been emphatically denied. Apparently slippery Oriental propaganda is at work, spreading false rumors as to the attitude of American officials.

Those who have studied the situation closely and have spent time in the islands are unanimous in the opinion that the Philippines are not yet ready for self-rule. Agitation for independence comes from two elements—the first, politicians who see the possibility of advancing themselves; the second, those who have been misled by the demagogues of the first group. What the Philippines needs is another strong man like Gen. Wood, who can surround himself with an able cabinet uncontrolled by Filipino politicians. In this way only can the islands have an honest, efficient and progressive government.

BIRTHPLACE OF STORMS.

Since last June, Prof. William H. Hobbs has been observing the weather from a base established at Kangerdlugssuaq Fjord, Greenland. Trial balloons have been sent aloft, and temperature, wind velocities, and directions have been carefully observed, as a result of which Prof. Hobbs has returned to the United States with the theory that Greenland is the birthplace of most of the fierce storms that rake Atlantic shipping lanes.

Greenland is a vast table land, he says, covered with ice and snow, upon which storms gather and sweep out to sea. Apparently these storms are over Greenland a day or two in advance of the time they are reported on the ocean. If this can be substantiated, much can be accomplished toward saving life and property by broadcasting storm warnings from the island. To complete all-year-round observations, Prof. Hobbs has left a party of six assistants at the observatory.

If science is able to discover the brewing pot in which North Atlantic storms originate the value of the discovery can not be overestimated. Not only would weather forecasts and storm warnings be of invaluable aid to shipping, but also with the development of transatlantic air lines just around the corner some effective means of obtaining such information must be developed. Present weather forecasts and storm warnings are admittedly inadequate for this purpose. Further announcements from Prof. Hobbs' weather observatory will be awaited with interest. Possibly Greenland is destined to play a part in world affairs of even greater importance than Greenland.

NEWSPAPER ROW.

For more than half a century the block of old buildings on the east side of Fourteenth street, between Pennsylvania avenue and F street, was known as "Newspaper Row." At one time or another nearly every newspaper of the country which maintained a "Washington bureau," or "Our Special Correspondent," was represented in that block. Even after the "New Ebbitt" had been formed out of a number of decrepit old structures, to which was added a mansard roof, the lower portion of the building still housed a few newspaper writers.

Next to the Ebbitt, on the south, was a five-story building, once known as the Occidental Hotel, which became a hive for the correspondents as their numbers increased. Below the Occidental, then owned by the late Henry Willard, were some structural relics of the antebellum days, and on the corner of Pennsylvania avenue was the Baltimore & Ohio telegraph office.

In these old buildings were housed Gen. H. V. Boynton, E. G. Dunnell, O. O. Stealey, Mose and Fred Handy, William E. Curtis, George Alfred Townsend, Perry S. Heath and hundreds of others whose names were known from the Pacific to Cape Cod.

Some twenty years ago the Occidental was torn down, having been vacated by the newspaper occupants. A new hotel was erected, but as a hotel it was not a success, and the owner leased it to the Government as the home of the Department of Commerce and Labor. It is now the good roads office of the Department of Agriculture. The passing of the old building led to the first of a series of stories concerning the "passing of Newspaper Row," which were telegraphed to the press of the country. The tearing down of the Ebbitt to make room for the National Press Building brought renewed accounts of the "passing of Newspaper Row." The "row," like the prima donnas of the opera, made many farewell appearances without "passing" altogether, until this week. And now the old row, with all its reminiscences and all its connections with national history, is but a pile of wreckage. The very last brick is being torn away, and nothing but a hole in the ground will remain by Thanksgiving Day.

Newspaper Row has finally disappeared, and the great majority of hundreds of writers who made the Fourteenth street block famous have also departed, never to return.

Some one some day will write the story of the "row," and if the writer knows his subject as he should that story will contain many hidden chapters of American history.

FARM COLLEGES.

Are the land-grant colleges turning out scientific farmers, or do the graduates of those institutions abandon the farms to enter other trades and professions?

Because of the widespread belief that college men fail to return to the farms of their fathers, but instead seek employment elsewhere, the colleges Federally aided have been subjected to much criticism. This led the Department of Agriculture to undertake a survey to ascertain to what extent the criticism is well founded. Dr. E. H. Shinn, chief of the division of education of the department, has just made public the result of his inquiries. Questionnaires were sent to deans of 41 of these colleges and in reply 19 submitted data giving details as to the pursuits of their students. These replies indicate that while only 27.3 per cent of the graduates of these agricultural colleges take up scientific farming as their life work, the range varying from 8 per cent in Florida to 50 per cent in Kansas, teaching is the profession to which 34 per cent of the student body devote themselves after leaving the land-grant colleges.

"Considering the results," says the report of Dr. Shinn, "we find that more than three-fourths of these graduates engage in occupations for which their technical training in agriculture and related sciences definitely prepared them. These data show that the criticism sometimes made against land-grant colleges that their graduates do not return to the farm is without foundation."

It would appear from the report of the survey that there has been a steady falling off in the enrollment in these colleges. In 1917 the number was 14,348 and the following year, due no doubt to the number of young men who entered the Army or the Navy during the war, the enrollment fell to 10,888, and in 1919 to 10,845. The following year the number of students reached 15,370, which was the peak for the decade. Since that year the diminution has been steady, reaching down to 11,715 in 1925. The figures for 1926 are not given, although nearly twelve months have elapsed since the rosters were made up for that year. Yet while enrollments have steadily diminished the students who attend the colleges appear to be better "sticklers" than were those of past years, for while in 1919 there were graduated 1,845 men and 77 women, the classes graduated in 1925 consisted of 2,604 men and 74 women.

The decrease in enrollment is ascribed to the depression in agriculture, which has been marked for several years past. But the report concludes: "If conditions on the farm are favorable, farmers will be prosperous and optimistic, and a larger number will find it possible to send their sons to agricultural colleges."

NEW YORK'S TRUCK EXPERIMENT.

New York, with a more difficult traffic problem than any other in the world, realizes that something to relieve conditions will have to be done before long. Several traffic committees have tackled the problem, and the two most significant suggestions forthcoming thus far are, one to "borrow the night" for all truck deliveries, and another that the city be laid off into delivery zones, each with terminal facilities, so that instead of a large number of partly loaded trucks being engaged in delivering the city's goods, a fewer number of fully loaded trucks would ply over regular routes to the terminal warehouses. From the warehouses individual merchants could pick up their goods at any time.

New York's traffic problem interests other cities because New York is dealing with the mythical saturation point of automobile traffic. Other cities have traffic problems, but nowhere else are they as serious as in New York. Consequently New York is looked upon as the testing ground of new ideas. Whatever proves effective there is sooner or later adopted in other cities.

Trucks complicate the traffic problem in Washington, although passenger vehicles contribute most to the congestion. If trucks could be taken from the streets conditions, of course, would improve. But, on the other hand, delivery costs would rise. Only in New York, where the great congestion adds to the cost of delivery, can such a shift be made to economic advantage. The experiment will be watched with interest, for it is not beyond the realm of possibility that the local traffic congestion will make it cheaper to establish a new delivery system than to cling to the present methods.

WISCONSIN DOES WELL.

The courts of Wisconsin have again set an example which might well be followed throughout the country. Just a week ago Alvin Greenwaldt, a liquor runner, hired Arthur Betzold, with a prison record behind him, to strangle the former's wife. There was a little matter of $24,000 in life insurance to be collected, providing everything worked out all right, and Betzold was to receive $500 for helping his friend to defraud the insurance companies. But there was a flaw in the program, and after much grilling both men confessed.

In the meantime Circuit Court Judge C. M. Davidson had called a special session of his court to be held in Waukesha to try the murderers. No trial was necessary, however, and within 24 hours after the crime was admitted the perpetrators were sentenced to imprisonment for the remainder of their lives.

There was nothing slow about the grinding of "the mills of the gods" in this case, but there will be general regret that the laws of Wisconsin do not provide for the infliction of the death penalty, for if ever men deserved hanging Betzold and Greenwaldt are the men. In New York the police rounded up a gang of hold-up men last Sunday, within an hour after they had murdered a poor tailor who refused to "stick 'em up" when ordered to do so. One of the gang confessed within a few hours after the deed was done. Will he be sentenced to the "chair" or to life imprisonment within a week?

He will not. That particular murder was committed in New York and not in Wisconsin.

PRESS COMMENT.

Tough on Tex.

Seattle Times: Seats on the New York Stock Exchange are selling for upward of a quarter million dollars. This news probably will break Tex Rickard's heart.

He'd Better Be.

Indianapolis News: That fellow at Santa Monica, Calif., who is going to jump out of a balloon at a height of 15,000 feet, and not open his parachute until he has dropped two miles, should be a mighty good judge of distance.

Playing Safe.

Brooklyn Eagle: Seeing that it is to have Congress on its hands in a couple of weeks or so, the War Department acts wisely in placating Representative Hamilton Fish by letting traffic back on the Storm King routes. Only in the long recesses of the governing body can the militarism of West Point expect to be supreme.

True to Form.

Baltimore Sun: Mohammedan inhabitants of Baltimore, Roumania, it is reported, were delighted as well as startled when Queen Marie appeared among them wearing Turkish trousers, as a tactful compliment to their racial customs. In Baltimore, as well as Baltimore, the graceful queen aroused delight by her choice of costumes. But why the Baltimoreers should have been startled is not so easily understandable. It is pretty generally understood that Queen Marie "wore the trousers" for all of her married life.

How Prohibition Works.

Milwaukee Journal: "Bootleggers, moonshiners and dispensers of illicit liquor are strong for law enforcement—for their competitors," declares Prohibition Commissioner R. W. Dixon. "Dry" come in here with information right along, often of little value. It's the fellows in the trade that know the tricks," says Mr. Dixon. "At least 95 per cent of the information we deem worth while has been given to us by those whom we have every reason to believe are violators of the liquor laws themselves. This is done to improve their own business."

Hazards of the Future.

Louisville Courier-Journal: With eleven concerns in the United States turning out three-passenger planes at prices ranging from $1,750 to $5,500 and capable of landing on an ordinary golf course in case of emergency, the approach of private aviation promises to add a new hazard to the game of golf.

Listen!

Detroit News: For a call from New York to San Francisco, the cost will be reduced from $11.50 to $9, as a result of new rates which go into effect on December 1. This means that if you are in New York and call your wife in San Francisco, it will cost you $2.50 less to listen.

Not So Much.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: That Chicago man who hypnotized a woman 30 blocks away is not so much. There have been a number of movie actors who seem able to hypnotize women by the thousands at a distance of hundreds of miles.

A Splendid Example.

Brooklyn Citizen: The devastated war region of France has been almost completely repopulated and restored, according to Minister Andre Tardieu. Seventy-three billion francs have been spent in the work, and there remains 18,000,000,000 francs still to pay. War-stricken, impoverished France has set a splendid example for America as well as the rest of the world. If that gallant European republic could spend so vast an amount to restore her territory

Cure for Naughtiness

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE monkey delights in new playthings, but tires of them quickly. In this particular, at least, it is like mortals.

Nordics are great people because they are restless people. But travel bores them. And their insatiable appetite for things that are new explains the tremendous progress they have made.

Americans turn quickly from one toy to another; from one hero to another; from one entertainment to another; from one fad to another. The thing that was interesting yesterday is tiresome today.

And this inability to be long content with anything at all seals the doom of the state of mind called "modernism."

Middle-aged people who commonly view with alarm and are forever shuddering in anticipation of civilization's destruction may find comfort in the instability of American nature.

The fact that the land has become naughty and now delights in playing with fire does not prove that it is going to the dogs. Precisely the opposite is true. The very fact that people are naughty today proves that they will be pious tomorrow.

Sin affords a kick only to those who have little experience of sin. The habitual sinner quickly exhausts the thrills of sin. He gets fed up. He becomes bored by his own unrighteousness. And then he reforms simply because his nature howls for something new.

The natural and inevitable reaction from Puritanism and its inhibitions and prudishness was an era of loose morality. People had restrained themselves until restraint bored them. They were weary of being good. They craved excitement, even at the risk of going to hell.

But excitement itself becomes a bore when you get too much of it. And the very people who now do more or less polite hell-raising in an effort to have a good time will be foremost in the ranks of extremists when the turn is made and society devotes itself to rigid righteousness.

Drugs stimulate you and lift you above normal, but drop you just as far below normal when the kick dies out. The pendulum always swings back. The more naughty the land is, the more pious it will be when it gets fed up.

To a conservative, the good old days were when kings traveled incognito instead of impromptu.

To most people "home" is the sweetest word in the English language. With others the sweetest two words are "down town."

Germany now has a tire that blows itself up. Probably similar in design to some of our presidential possibilities.

(Copyright, 1927.)

devastated by war, can not the United States, the richest and most prosperous nation in the world, afford to appropriate $500,000,000, or as much as is necessary, to restore the lands in the Mississippi Valley and in Vermont and other New England States which were devastated by floods? Prompt action by Congress should be the order when that body convenes.

What Politics Needs.

San Francisco Chronicle: What the political parties seem to want is a platform that can be used as a raft in the district.

The Woman Wins.

Atchison Globe: Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., who has filed suit for divorce from his wife, Rachel, says in his complaint that his wife discouraged his newspaper work. Considering the last heard from Cornelius was that he was living in an attic in an endeavor to save money to pay off the tremendous indebtedness he accumulated in his newspaper venture, it seems like he ought to stick to Rachel, and, hereafter, take her advice.

This Civilized Age.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Automobile engines knock, snort and bark, but they do not blow up. The automobile that exploded in Central City, Ky., the other day, killing three persons, did so because some one had put some nitroglycerin under the hood. Yes, you have guessed it: They are having a bootleggers' war in Central City. We should have said in the beginning that automobile engines do not blow up by themselves. Unless you are in a bootleg war, be assured.

Poise.

Memphis Commercial Appeal: Poise is that quality which enables a man to hum a tune while the red signal light prevents him from catching the street car leaving from the opposite corner.

Burton Shades Are Custom Made

WE take very careful measurements—so that they fit each window and door exactly. There's no crimping and curling; no "running wild" with Burton Shades.

You make selection of color—in either our special linen or waterproof cambric. They are best of all shade cloths—very durable and hold their shape permanently.

Burton's Best Shades don't cost any more than some not so good. No obligation in letting us estimate—but a lot of satisfaction in letting us make the Shades.

REINER WINS OVATION
AS SYMPHONY LEADERPhiladelphia Orchestra Gives Artistic Concert Under Guest Conductor.

PROGRAM WELL CHOSEN

Fritz Reiner, guest conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, yesterday added new laurels to the Quaker City organization in a concert at the new auditorium under the local management of T. Arthur Smith.

Mr. Reiner, who is the conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and has been on leave of absence to conduct the Philadelphia organization, was given a warm ovation when he mounted the conductor's stand and raised his baton for the opening bars of the overture to "Euryanthe," by Carl Maria von Weber.

It was evident that the Philadelphia Orchestra is so well trained that it can respond adequately to other leadership than that of Leopold Stokowski, its famous conductor, who is traveling in the Orient in search of health and the elusive melodies of the Far East. Mr. Reiner succeeded in winning from the master musicians of the orchestra the same artistic excellence and unified response which it gives to Mr. Stokowski. The Cincinnati conductor is a vivid interpreter of the modern in music and leads in a very enthusiastic manner.

That he is a program maker of initiative and originality was shown in the scope of yesterday's offerings ranging from the classics of Weber, Bach and Mozart to the tone pictures of Respighi and Stravinsky, ultra-modern in musical thought. The "Noah's Ark Suite" by Rieti brought to the fore the versatile genius of the leader and orchestra.

"Fireworks" by Stravinsky was almost pure virtuosity. It sang of whirling rockets, exploding bombs and flares of light in crisp and scintillating orchestral measures equally enjoyed by the musicians and the audience. If the truth must be told, there is little of real music in this number. There is variety, rollicking fun and other effervescent elements of modernity in melody however.

In order to contrast "Fireworks" with modern music of Mozart's day Mr. Reiner may have included the next number in his program, the dainty "Cavotte" from Mozart's classic work, "Idomeneo." Immediately the picture changed.

The voice of a real nightingale, mystic bird of the poets, heard in every clime since Ruth grew homesick at its music when she stood "amid the alien ones" featured the production of "The Pines of Rome" by Respighi, one of the most pretentious numbers of the concert. The song of the nightingale had been impressed on a photograph record with marvelous success.

Altogether the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra in the hands of a guest conductor of real insight and technical ability proved itself worthy of its absent leader, the incomparable Leopold Stokowski.

CITING IN SUPPORT OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCELecturer Says Teachings Are Inseparable and Refers to Spiritual Healing.

SPEAKS IN FIRST CHURCH

A lecture on "Christian Science: The Christianity of the Bible" was delivered in First Church of Christ, Scientist, last evening to a filled auditorium by Robert Stanley Ross, C. S. of New York City. Mr. Ross is a member of the board of lecturership of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. He was introduced by William G. Biederman, first reader of First Church, under whose auspices the lecture was given.

The lecturer said, in part: "The teachings of Christian Science are inseparable from those of the Bible; first, because the Bible is the only book throughout the centuries that has kept alive in human consciousness the first of spiritual inspiration; second, because the Bible records the words and works of Christ Jesus and of righteous men and women whose obedience to divine law enabled them to rise above the materialism of customary belief, misallied law, and to accomplish the humanly impossible; third, because, in 1866, the inspired words of the Bible alone stood between Mr. Baker Eddy and the grave, restored him to health, and enabled him to discover and demonstrate the divine principle and rule of Christian healing. Accordingly, on page 177 of the Christian Science text book, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' Mrs. Eddy gives, as the very first of her denominational tenets, the following: 'As adherents of truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life.'

"One of the outstanding features of the Bible is the frequency with which it refers to spiritual healing. From beginning to end, the Bible shows that the ability to overcome otherwise insurmountable difficulties was characteristic of those who were close to God. As early as the twentieth chapter of Genesis, for example, we find a record of spiritual healing by prayer. There we are told that Abraham prayed unto God and that God healed Abimelech. Further along, in 'Joshua,' we find more records of healing by prayer or spiritual means. This healing and saving power the great lawgiver demonstrated on a astonishing degree; but we find nothing in the records to indicate that he ever taught his followers how to heal. Aaron, Joshua, Elijah and Elisha healed by prayer, but none of the patriarchs and prophets appeared to have had disciples or pupils. In the New Testament, however, we find the ministry of our Master to whom one who could, in a general way, understand the divine power which accompanies it."

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau.
Forecast for the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia, for 15-18 P. M.
Wednesday—Rain; Thursday, colder; Friday, fair and much cooler; Saturday, generally fair and much cooler; Sunday, fair and much cooler.
The disturbance that was central over Iowa Monday night has moved northeastward to Lake Huron, Alpena, Mich., 29.82 inches, and a trough of low pressure extends southwestward to the mouth of the Rio Grande. High pressure prevails over practically all other sections, with centers over northern California and Nova Scotia, Sydney, 30.48 inches, and over northern Manitoba, Winnipeg, 30.47 inches. In the lake region, the great central valleys, the Gulf States, the Carolinas, northern New England, and in northern sections west of the Rocky Mountains, while more less fall in portions of the Canadian Northwest, and from Montana and Wyoming eastward to upper Michigan and northern Wisconsin. The temperature has continued to rise in the lower sections, with the exception of the valley and the Atlantic States, and it has fallen in the northern Rocky Mountain region, British Columbia, and from Minnesota and upper Michigan southward to the interior of Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. The weather has become much colder over a considerable part of the latter area.

The Lake Huron disturbance will continue to move northeastward, and it will be attended by rains over the entire Washington forecast district within the next 24 to 36 hours. Following the passage of this disturbance the northwestern area of high pressure and much colder weather will move into the forecast district from the northwest. The temperature will not begin to fall on the Atlantic Coast, however, until Wednesday. Generally fair weather is indicated for Thursday.

PROGRAM FOR INSTITUTE DINNER IS ANNOUNCED

H. C. Evans, of Baltimore, Will Address Members on "Investment Trusts."

GAS STOCK TO NEW HIGH

By F. W. PATTERSON.

The program for the first forum dinner of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, in the year 1927-1928, which will be held tomorrow at 6 p. m. in the Raleigh Hotel, was announced yesterday by J. J. Roberts, president.

Henry C. Evans, member of the investment banking firm of Stein Bros. & Boyce, Baltimore, will talk on "Investment Trusts" and lead the discussion following. The selection of this subject by the committee was inspired by the recent rapid development of this form of investment and its more recent advent into the local field which has aroused a keen desire for further insight into its principles in Washington financial circles, while the happy selection of the principal speaker was made because of his knowledge of this very important subject and his ability as a public speaker.

Harold W. Burnside, of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank, will preside at the dinner. W. W. Spaid, of W. E. Hibbs & Co., president of the District Bankers Association, will represent the senior organization. Harry V. Haynes, president of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank, chairman of the Washington Clearing House Association, will extend greetings from that body. J. J. Roberts, Riggs National Bank, president of Washington Chapter, will welcome the guests, while William B. Thurston, of the Baltimore Trust Co., who is the executive chairman of the institute from this middle Atlantic district, will speak briefly.

The advance reservations by senior bank officers and members of the Alumni Association promise a record attendance, and for this reason it is urged that bankers who have not already notified the committee will do so early today in order that last-minute confusion will not arise.

The dinner will start promptly at 6 o'clock so that those interested in the Thursday night classes on negotiable instruments and analysis of statements may reach the chapter rooms by 8 o'clock, so the starting time should be borne in mind by all those who will attend.

The committee in charge of the forum consists of Harold W. Burnside, chairman; James C. Dulin, Jr., American Security & Trust Co., secretary; F. H. Cox, Commercial National Bank, treasurer; and T. Hinton Leith, Security Savings & Commercial Bank, dinner arrangements.

Gas Stock Soars to New High. Washington Gas Light, which featured Monday's trading with a rise to a new 1927 peak, came to the front again in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange, and opening with an overnight gain of 3/4 to 83 1/2, climbed another 1/2 point to set another high mark.

Capital Traction, which sold the day before at 108 1/2, parted with 1/4 point on opening sale, but promptly recovered the lost ground and sold through to close at 108 1/2. Potomac Electric 5 1/2 preferred started even with Monday's close but eased off an 1/4 to 107 1/2 on a single sale, while the 6 per cent preferred picked up to 112.

Union Trust Co. sold in three small lots at 300, and Commercial National Bank was firm at 269. Sanitary Grocery preferred moved up to 102 1/2; Barber & Ross, Inc., common was firm at 85 1/2, while National Mortgage & Investment preferred sold at 8 1/4.

On the bond side of the market Potomac Electric 6s sold at 108 1/2; Washington Gas 6s, series A, moved at 105, while the B's sold in the smaller denominations at 104 1/2; Washington Railway & Electric 4s were firm at 90, while Barber & Ross 6 1/2s sold at 97 for the $500 and 98 for the $2,000.

Linotype Dividend Voted. Directors of Mergenthaler Linotype Co. yesterday voted the regular dividend of $1.25 per share, payable December 31 to stockholders of record December 3.

Building Association Gains. The Perpetual Building Association for the year ended October 30, 1927, enjoyed the biggest business in its history of 26 years, stockholders were told yesterday at the annual meeting. The year closed with assets of $15,000,000, which is $2,500,000 greater than at the corresponding date a year ago. Statement for the year ended October 30, 1927, with comparative figures for 1926, follow:

RESOURCES 1927 1926
Outstanding loans $15,000,000 $12,474,485.50

Undivided profits 800,941.19 843,182.08
Surplus 1,000,000.00 1,000,000.00

The following directors were elected for 1927-1928: James Berry, Arthur G. Bishop, Joshua W. Carr, Marvin A. Cusatis, E. G. Balta, Franklin W. Harper, Vernon G. Owen, John C. Scofield and George Wright.

The organization meeting of the directors resulted in the election of the following officers for the ensuing year: James Berry, president; Arthur G. Bishop, vice president; Marvin A. Cusatis, treasurer; Joshua W. Carr, secretary; E. G. Balta, assistant secretary; James Berry, Arthur G. Bishop and Joshua W. Carr, executive committee; Arthur G. Bishop, attorney; John C. Scofield, committee on status of loans; Vernon G. Owen, appraiser, and E. G. Balta and Vernon G. Owen, trustees.

Potomac Savings Renovation. The Potomac Savings Bank shortly will undergo a process of renovation which will include the decorating of the interior, extensively altered last year, and the cleaning and repainting of the exterior stone work and painting of the brick walls.

H. J. Stonier Appointed.

Harold J. Stonier has been named educational director of the American Institute of Banking to succeed Stephen I. Miller, who resigned last month to accept an executive position with the National Association of Credit Men.

Kearns Opens Legal War Today

Dempsey Squares Off With Ex-Manager at Newark.

40 Witnesses Appear Against Fighter in $333,333 Suit.

Special to The Washington Post.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 15.—All the hatred and enmity which has been smoldering for the past four years in the many booms of Jack Dempsey former world's heavyweight champion, and Jack Kearns, one of his numerous former managers, is expected to flare to the surface tomorrow when the once inseparable pals and now bitter enemies square off for the battle of the dirty linen in the United States district court here.

This bout, promoted by a damage suit instituted by Kearns to collect $333,333, which he claims Dempsey owes him as a result of a breach of contract when they split, may develop into one of the spiciest legal rows ever fought here.

This will be the first fight Dempsey ever has been in without assurance of a piece of the gate receipts. There has been no advance sale but a capacity house is assured.

The identity of the legal referee will not be revealed until the principals enter the arena. The choice rests between Federal Judges William N. Runyon and Joseph Bodine. The final verdict will be reached by a jury of twelve good men and true.

Dempsey's legal seconds will be Malenivsky, Levy and O'Brien. In the opposite corner will be Segar, Scott and Davis.

If the bout is fought according to the Blackstone code the trial may be a time in so far as sensational developments are concerned. But if the opening seconds insist in digging deep into the principals' pasts a lot of acts not calculated to inspire faith in the boxing game are certain to be revealed. Fifteen witnesses have been summoned to appear for Dempsey. J. M. Davis, who will be Kearns' chief second, said today that he plans to call nearly 40 witnesses.

Belgian-American Lead Six-Day Riders

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15 (A.P.).—The Belgian-American team of Beckman and Dignata, with 556 miles, held the lead today in the thirty-fourth hour of the six-day bicycle races which got under way in Olympic Arena here Saturday.

Two laps behind was the American team of Hanley and Gaffney. The French duo of Faudet and Marcellac held third position, one lap behind the American team.

Nork, Leading G. U. Scorer, Likely to Return Next Year

Star Ball-Carrier Eligible for Football for Another Season; Hilltoppers Leave Tomorrow for Fordham Game.

WITH the game at New York Saturday against Fordham closing the season for the Georgetown Eleven, Coach Lou Little, of the Hilltoppers, is looking forward to building up another fine team for next season. Nork, whose all-round play and passing has figured prominently in Georgetown's success this season, may continue studies at Georgetown next year, in which event he would be eligible for the football team. Nork will be graduated in June, but may take a postgraduate course. He has played only two years of college football. His presence on the Blue and Gray squad would boost the 1928 backfield prospects and also would put him in line for the captaincy of next year's team.

NEW OWNERS IN CONTROL OF INDIANS

Plan to Rebuild Team; League Head Helps Close Deal.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Alva Bradley announced late today he had received a long-distance telephone call from E. S. Barnard, president of the American Baseball League, at Chicago, saying he had secured from W. J. Garvey, Chicago, 150 shares of stock in the Cleveland Baseball Club, thus closing the deal whereby Cleveland financiers secure full control of the local American League club.

The Cleveland financiers who secure control of the club are Mr. Bradley, his brother, Charles; John Sherwin, Sr., and Percy Morgan.

The deal has been hanging fire for several months, the Cleveland men being unable to purchase the shares from Garvey at a price which they thought reasonable.

Turnard, who was president of the Cleveland Club until named head of the American League, succeeded Ben Johnson and acted as agent for the Cleveland men.

The new owners will take immediate possession of the club. They announced they would launch plans for rehabilitation of the club roster at once.

Sale of the Cleveland Indians ends the ownership of the Dunn family that started with purchase of the team by the late James C. Dunn from Charles Somers in 1916.

The price of the franchise, while not made public, was reported to have been around $150,000.

Alva Bradley is slated to become president of the club.

Slattery Gets Chance At Loughran's Title

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—In all probability Tommy Loughran will defend his world's light-heavyweight title against Jimmy Slattery in Madison Square Garden in January. Slattery, who has been training in the hands of Paul Berlenbach, former holder of the 175-pound title, will meet in a ten-round decision contest here on January 25, the eve of the California-Nebraska intercollegiate clash.

The bout will be under the auspices of Promoter James C. Mulvey in the Coliseum. They will fight at catch weights, without a title at stake. Walker plans to weigh about 164 pounds and Berlenbach 175.

French Senate Votes Money for Olympics

PARIS, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Firm relief versus athletes' hold the attention of almost all of today's sitting of the French senate, and when the day was over the senate had voted a subsidy of 2,000,000 francs, or about $300,000, insuring participation of France in the Olympics, at Amsterdam, in 1928.

G.W. Awarded Honor Date By Lions

Draws 1928 "Pennsylvania Day" Game at Penn State.

Half Back Bud Barrow Breaks Collarbone in Practice.

HONORS are being heaped on the George Washington University Eleven so fast these days that Coach Crum is worried for fear his men will add a few cases of "swelled head" to the list of injuries which have handicapped the Colonials at intervals throughout the season.

It was not so many seasons ago that George Washington was looked upon as a doormat by most of the college gridmen in the land, but times have changed. By virtue of their fine showing this season, including a victory over Fordham, the Colonials have been given an honor position on Penn State's 1928 schedule, playing the Nittany Lions on the "Pennsylvania Day" date, November 10. New York University filed this engagement this season.

Drawing this big date is most complimentary to the G. W. Eleven, showing that it is looked upon as a real opponent by the Penn State authorities. This and the fact that the Colonials have been given games with Lafayette and Fordham next season are indications that Coach Crum's team has advanced several notches in class and it now ranks with the country's major eleven.

Bad news also emanated from the George Washington camp yesterday. Bud Barrow, a young half back, who has shown great promise as an open-field runner, fractured his collar bone in scrimmage with the freshmen and will be out of the game for the balance of the season.

This leaves the Colonials with but four regular backs and seven regular linemen, putting them in a rather ticklish position. George Washington is not doing much worrying over Saturday's contest at Athens, Va., where they will meet the Nittany Lions. Mandell fought his third major engagement since winning the title here fourteen months ago, and he looked every inch a champion. The title holder won every one of the ten rounds, outwitting the Idaho battler, outboxing him and out-tricking him. Mandell's dazzling speed enabled him to step around Myers while he kept shooting perpetual left hands to face and short right crosses to the jaw.

Central to Honor Bill Foley Today

Formal presentation of the portrait of William ("Bill") Foley, track coach, will be made by the "C" Club at Central High School, at a special chapel tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Mr. Foley, former principal of the school, will present the portrait.

Central alumni, regardless of whether they are members of the "C" Club or not, are urged to attend.

MYERS LOSES DECISION TO MANDELL

Champion Wins Each of Ten Rounds; Al Foreman Scores.

COLLEGEVILLE, Chicago, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, won the verdict over Jimmy (Bugs) Myers, rugged Pocatello, Idaho lightweight, in a ten-round battle at the Coliseum tonight. Mandell fought his third major engagement since winning the title here fourteen months ago, and he looked every inch a champion. Merle Harris, a brother of Manager Sucky Harris, of the Nationals, who was quite a player in his day, has highly recommended Howard Myers, a speedy young guard who has been going great guns in the coal region of Pennsylvania, and Owner Markey has agreed to the deal to report here for trial. He is expected within the next day or so.

Special attention at yesterday's session was paid to the two center candidates, Jack Chazandian and Joe Baseman, both of whom looked particularly well in the drills. Chazandian was staging a real battle for the tap-off berth, with neither apparently having any advantage.

Last night's drill was somewhat disrupted by an argument regarding the catching of a basketball. It started when Saunders snuffed one of Phil Kennedy's speedy passes, and ended when Saunders' ball hit the back of Kennedy's head. Kennedy was not hurt, but he was angry.

Guyon's Line Paves Way For Upset

Miller Runs 65 Yards; Munro Intercepts Pass to Score.

Central Makes Single Threat; Bewildered by Foe's Attack.

By ARTHUR A. HEYWOOD.

A VERITABLE tornado in the form of the Eastern High School football team hit Wilson Stadium yesterday afternoon and swept the Central Eleven before it, burying it under a 26-0 rout before 4,000 people. The victory gained for Eastern at least a triple tie for first place and the possibility of a double tie with Tech, should Central by any chance fail to defeat Western. At present Eastern and Tech are tied for first place.

Before the onslaught fury of the Eastern attack, the much-touted Central line crumbled and fell and the constant hammering of the Eastern backs failed on only several occasions throughout the entire game to gain consistently.

On the very first kick-off of the game, George Mohler, Central guard, was knocked unconscious and was removed to Griffield Hospital, and only a further indication of how bitterly fought the contest was occurred late in the final quarter, when Charles Miller, star Eastern back, was hit from the game with a bad gash over his right eye. Though bitterly fought, the game was one of the most cleanly played of the series.

It would be folly to attempt to pick the stars of the Eastern victory. Every man in the line did heroic work in ripping through the Central forward wall.

Franklin Holland, full back, battered his way through when a first down was needed and plunged over for the first touchdown. Miller, half back, broke away for several sensational runs during the game, making two touchdowns. His second yardage in the second quarter coming after the culmination of a 65-yard run, and Munro, center, intercepting a pass on the 20-yard line in the final quarter and running for a touchdown.

Before the onslaught attack of the Eastern team at the very outset, a blow to the morale of the team when Mohler was knocked out on the first play and with Everett Cross, star half back, on the sidelines with his arm in a cast, the Central eleven seemed stunned and surprised and unable to cope with the situation.

Trailing 19 to 0 at the beginning of the second half, Central came back and filled the air with passes in an attempt to score, but the Eastern defense failed to find a receiver, several were intercepted and only one long toss at the very close of the game, from Andy to Ross, which netted 30 yards, put the ball on the 2-yard line just as the game ended. It was Central's first and only lead.

The blocking of Simmons' punt on the 33-yard line near the close of the first quarter, when Tom Rolly started Eastern on its way. Holland and Miller bucked the line, their efforts netting a yard, Holland made it first down and then Miller broke through for a 15-yard run which put the ball on the 8-yard stripe. Miller and Reeves pushed the ball over the goal line for a touchdown.

The rule forbidding umpires to accept payment for reporting promising players to try out in his league received the addition today of a penalty of at least $500, aimed at the umpire of the club.

Most of the rules related to players' contracts, and the amendments generally were in protection of the players' contract right.

MURPHY STAR PASSER.

Gene Murphy, back field star of Catholic University's team, is expected to be one of the finest forward passers in collegiate ranks.

On the next play, Miller broke away for a 14-yard toss to the edge of the 15-yard line.

WALFORD AND CLAN IN NATIONAL SOCCER GAME

D. C. Booters To Battle Sunday

Meet in First Round of Amateur Cup Tie Eliminations.

Soccer Body Will Act In Cases of Tampering With Players.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

A LOCAL soccer game of national significance will be played next Sunday when the Walford and Walford eleven meet in the National Amateur Cup tie eliminations. These are the only teams entered in the national competition and soccer fans undoubtedly will flock to the Monument Grounds where the game will be played.

Clan MacLennan will strive to avenge a defeat suffered in the local cup tie game two weeks ago, when Walford walloped it, 8 to 1. The Commodore were off their game on that day and expect to make a better showing Sunday when they get their second crack at the local champions.

The winner of the match will play the second round in New Jersey, as there are no Baltimore teams entered in the amateur games. William Oram has been appointed commissioner of this district and has named the following officials to handle the Sunday match: Edward Kruse, referee; George Youngblood and R. S. Tennyson, linesmen.

Every day of the Washington and Southern District Soccer Association is being emphasized. Players are being held to their contracts and clubs are not permitted to act unfaithfully with players under the association rule. Within a few days, several clubs, who up to the present time were not aware that they were violating the rules, will feel the hand of the governing body.

The violations were committed at the expense of the recently organized Recreation League. Several teams, who were not aware of the elementary schools are turning out soccer players by the thousands each year, suddenly awake to the fact last Saturday when the Recreation League opened. Immediately a grab was made for several promising players. At least one was signed.

When President Louis Bullock, of the Recreation League, was informed that the older clubs were tampering with players in his league, he was so incensed that the matter would be submitted to the association tomorrow night and that under no circumstances would he tolerate any of the Recreation school and junior high players. He stated that he would be pleased if many of his youngsters get trials in the senior leagues in 1928, as that is the object of the junior organization, but there is a rule in the Recreation League which forbids a player transferring to a senior league in his first year as a member.

Bernard McCarty, secretary of the Recreation League, is compiling a list of players in the new league and, when it is ready, he will submit it to William Oram, secretary of the association, and Bullock says that he will fight any attempt made by the older clubs to grab his young soccerists.

The Recreation League schedule for Saturday will be: Happy Hollow vs. Georgetown, at Plaza, at 2:30 o'clock; Garfield vs. Rosedale, at Rosedale, at 2:30 o'clock; Bloomingdale vs. Park View, at 2:30, at Bloomingdale; and Plaza vs. Iowa Avenue, at Plaza, at 3:30 o'clock. Mariboro youngsters have entered the league, and will play their first game a week from Saturday.

The opening game of the Recreation League was a brilliant, hard-fought game that was decided by a penalty kick. Rosedale was the victor and Happy Hollow the defeated eleven. There was little to choose between the teams, and the result indicates that some worthwhile matches will be played on Saturday afternoons.

NEW OWNERS TAKE CHARGE OF INDIANS

The new owners announced that their first move would be to secure a new manager to succeed Jack MacCallister. This speaker has been mentioned for the job, but Bradley intimated that the man he has in mind has never been connected with the club.

Well-informed circles here have it that Eddie Collins, now of the Philadelphia Athletics and former manager of the Chicago White Sox, and Arthur Fletcher, former shortstop for the New York Giants in their pennant-winning days of 1913, 1914 and 1915, and later manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, were being considered for the manager ship.

STREETS, SWEENEY, NOTE. Dick Streets and Joe Sweeney, basketball players, have been asked to call Bernie Peacock, Anacostia Eagle manager, at Potomac 730 today.

ACES SEEK ACTION. The Ace five, in the 145-pound class, wants games. Call Manager Clifford at West 2085, if interested.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough
This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual night and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchial asthma, or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaricol, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Hutcheson to Give Program of Classical Numbers From WRC.

OTHER FEATURES ON AIR

Ernest Hutcheson, well-known pianist, will be the guest soloist in the Duo-Art radio recital at 8:30 o'clock tonight from WRC. Mr. Hutcheson will play three numbers from Chopin before the microphone, followed by a reproduction of his playing of "Du bist die Ruh" (Schubert-Lied). Then Wolsteinholme's "Prelude in F Major" will be played on the Aeolian residence organ, followed by Mr. Hutcheson himself playing Liszt's "Concert Etude in F Minor." The "Valse Impromptu" (Liszt) reproducing the playing of Mr. Hutcheson, will conclude the program. The Silvertones Quartet, who will be heard with the Goodrich Zipper Orchestra, at 9:30 o'clock from WRC, according to hundreds of listeners, ranks with the best quartets of male singers on the air. Members of this quartet are Cyril Pitts, first tenor; Thomas Muir, second tenor; George Miller, baritone, and James Phillips, bass, all of whom are concert soloists. The twelve-piece orchestra consists of nationally known musicians, whose identity is kept from the listeners. Each weekly presentation contains some instrumental specialty. Tonight an especially arranged flute solo and a guitar solo will be heard. Mozart's "Don Giovanni," an opera in two acts, will be broadcast in tabloid form by the National Grand Opera Ensemble, under the direction of Cesare Sodero. The opera, which consists of two acts, the words of which were supplied by Da Ponte, was taken from an old Spanish tale. It was first produced at Prague in 1787, and in New York at the Park Theater in 1826. Features from WRC the earlier part of the evening will include a talk about the Belleau Woods Memorial Fund, by Hanford MacKider; The Kitt hour of music, with Gretchen Hood, soprano; "The Political Situation in Washington Tonight," by Frederic William Wile, and the W. B. & A. Hawaiians. The Brunswick Pantrophe Hour will be broadcast from WMAL at 7:30 o'clock tonight, followed from 8:30 to 10 o'clock by a program from the City Club. This musical will be presented by Julia Culbert Gray, contralto and entertainer, and Walter T. Holt and his Nordic-Mandolin and Guitar and Banjo Clubs, assisted by Mary Bovello, tenor banjoist; Charles Conrad, guitarist, and the Nordic String Quartet. Van and Schenck and the Soconyans' Orchestra will be featured from WEAF and six New England stations at 7:30 o'clock tonight. May Singli Breen and Peter de Rose, assisted by the Mediterranean Dance Band, will be heard in a half-hour program broadcast from WJZ at 10 o'clock. At the conclusion of this program, Norman Sweetser's baritone will be heard in a half-hour recital, assisted by a string ensemble.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER Winsome Winnie Winkle Wins Way—To Hearts of Post Sunday Readers. She Looks Good Enough to Eat

Winnie Winkle, our little heroine, is stranded in Hollywood, apparently without a prospect of ever landing a job in the movies. Gertie St. Clair, an extra girl who has been in the same fix herself more than once, has befriended Winnie and invited her to a party attended by movie people. It is late in the evening, and although Winnie hasn't eaten a square meal in several days, she is quite fed up on the party.

THE PREFERING URGES OLD 60-40 PLAN OF FINANCING DISTRICT

Advises Real Estate Board to Work for Arrangement
With Government.

INCREASE IN VALUE
OF REALTY IS CITED

Cup Offered for Speech on
"Why Washington Is Best Place to Reside."

Real estate in the District of Columbia has steadily increased in value until it has reached the total assessed value of $1,180,000,000, from which $19,000,000 in round figures, at a tax rate of $1.70 is produced, which is one-half of the revenue derived here, Commissioners Sidney F. Talliaferro told the Washington Real Estate Board at a meeting last night in Wardman Park Hotel. He advocated the resumption of the 60-40 plan of fiscal relations.

He said he was opposed to any plan where local taxpayers were called upon to shoulder more than a just tax burden, and cited figures showing that the assessed value of Federal Government property here is $470,000,000 which is exempt from taxation. The District Government owns property assessed at $50,000,000 and foreign governments have title to real estate at approximately $4,000,000, all of which is nontaxable, the Commissioner declared. The Commissioner pointed out that the 60-40 plan of 1922 had been set aside by the substantive law, and the lump sum of $9,000,000 from the Federal Government donated as its share of operation of the National Capital. He concluded that he believed Congress wants to be fair in paying its share, and knew the realtors would do their part in having the 60-40 plan resumed.

Boulder Dam Discussed.
Commissioner Talliaferro was followed by Robert Adams, of the Los Angeles Real Estate Board, who spoke on the Colorado Dam project, and the Boulder Dam project, and Rufus S. Lusk, president of the Operative Builders Association.

Mr. Lusk told the realtors they had the greatest city in the world to sell, and to support his view, pointed to the extensive Mall building program, the Arlington Memorial and other projects to be completed in the near future. He urged his audience to study the plans of the Fine Arts Commission and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission to gain a clear conception of what Washington of the future will be.

Speaking of building in the National Capital, Mr. Lusk declared that of the total area of the city, exclusive of streets and parks, only 20 per cent of land was left. The detached home sells better in proportion to semi-detached or row houses, he asserted. Comparing home ownership in other cities, he declared 41 per cent of the heads of families in Philadelphia own their own homes, 36 per cent in Baltimore, while only 30 per cent of the heads of families in Washington have title to their houses. There are 85,000 potential home owners living here today, he declared, urging the bringing of new prospects into the home ownership market.

Cup Offered for Address.
W. C. Miller, who presided for the first time since becoming president, offered a cup to be given to the active and associate member making the best five-minute speech on "Why Washington Is the Best Place to Reside," at the home-town speaking contest to be held at the next annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Louisville, Ky. The speaker winning the contest twice in succession will receive the cup permanently.

A report on the Better Homes Exhibition, recently conducted by the board, was read by James P. Schick, executive secretary. Following the reading a buffet supper was served.

G. W. U. to Debate Englishmen Friday

The fifth international debate between teams representing George Washington University and England will be held Friday night in the gymnasium of George Washington University. The English team consists of Frank O. Darvall, of the University of Reading; Andrew Haddon, of the University of Edinburgh; and John Ramage, of the London School of Political Science and Economics.

The local university will be represented by William F. Williamson, James Seymour and James Kirkland.

Gifts Left to Charities.
St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, the German Orphan Asylum, the Little Sisters of the Poor and the Catholic University are beneficiaries of $100,000 in the will of Christopher Teeling, died yesterday in Probate Court. The Rev. John McNamara, pastor of St. Gabriel's Catholic church, is given $20 for his personal use. Mrs. Margaret M. Cummings, a niece, is given $100, and Sister Marie Constance, a nun and sister of the testator, is given $500. The balance of the estate is devised to Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. Maggie Howley, sister of the testator.

AUTO TAG DISTRIBUTION WILL BEGIN DECEMBER 1

Truck, Taxi, Bus and Livery Licenses Are to Be Available on Monday.

POLICE STATIONS TO AID

Automobile tags for 1928 will be distributed for pleasure cars and motorcycles in the District Building beginning December 1. Tags for trucks, taxicabs, buses and livery cars will be available Monday, but may not be attached to cars until December 1, after which 1928 tags may be displayed on all vehicles.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Wade H. Coombs, District superintendent of licenses, who added:

"Application forms for these licenses will be available next week and may be procured at the various police stations as well as at the District Building. Applicants will be required to fill in the forms by printing in ink or by typewriter, except as to the space provided for signature of car owners. Signatures of owners must be in ink.

"Application forms for trucks are now available. In connection with the forms it is pointed out that applicants must give the empty weight of the truck and the gross weight with capacity load.

"In presenting applications for tags at the License Bureau applicants also should present for examination their 1927 registration certificates.

"Motorists are urged to obtain their 1928 plates early in December to avoid the congestion which usually occurs at the District Building during the last few days before old license expire."

SONS OF REVOLUTION HONOR VON STEUBEN

Memorial Services Conducted at Statue on Jackson Place.

Services commemorating the 197th anniversary of the birth of Baron Frederick William Augustus Henry Ferdinand von Steuben, distinguished German soldier who fought in the Revolutionary War, were conducted yesterday at the statue at Jackson place and H street northwest under the auspices of the Sons of the Revolution.

The American flag, Continental standards, the Bourbon emblem of France and the banners of the Sons of the Revolution were arranged around the base of the statue. F. H. Dussol, Secretary of the French Embassy, and Dr. Otto Kiep, Charge d'Affaires of the German Embassy, accompanied by Dr. Edward von Selman, represented their countries at the ceremony.

An invocation was pronounced by Col. John T. Astor, chief of the Chaplains Corps of the Army. Maj. Charles T. Tittmann, acted as chairman of the committee of the Sons of the Revolution in charge of the exercises. Other members were G. Beale Bloomer, Clarence G. Calhoun, John W. Childress, Walter C. Clephane, Hampton J. J. Miller Kenyon, Leroy O. King, Chester W. Lockwood, George Hewitt Myers, D. Goldsmith Shanks, William F. Thynson and Otto U. von Schröder. They were accompanied by members of the board of managers, headed by Dr. Marcus Benjamin, president of the society.

$5,510 More Donated In Y. M. C. A. Drive

Contributions of $5,510 were reported by the teams engaged in raising $45,000 for the Young Men's Christian Association at the daily luncheon yesterday. This brings the total thus far raised to $10,322.

The team of M. O. Chance was high yesterday with contributions of $635. Dr. George T. Sharp's team was second with $610. Other teams reported as follows: Col. F. M. Anderson, $180; L. M. Betts, $134; Charles F. Crane, $235; W. C. Hanson, $401; Samuel B. Young, $45; Dr. E. M. Ellison, $162; Walter E. Handy, $165; and John W. Hurdell, $127.

The executive committee announced receipt of additional donations aggregating $2,476.

Tunney to Appear In Shadow Boxing

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the shadow boxing exhibition which Gene Tunney will give Saturday night in the Washington Auditorium to illustrate his lecture on "The Art of Self-Defense," which will be given under the auspices of the Belleau Wood Overseas Memorial of the Second Division.

In connection with the lecture, Handford MacNider, Assistant Secretary of War, will broadcast a description of the memorial and the purposes of the Memorial Association from Station WRC.

Teaching of Social Hygiene Advocated

Teaching of social hygiene in the schools was advocated yesterday by Dr. Thomas Galloway, social hygienist, of New York, before the District Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations, meeting in the auditorium of the Interior Building. Dr. Galloway recommended a close study by the parent-teacher groups of the social hygiene studies in the schools.

Dr. Edwin M. C. Barnes, director of music for the schools, told the association the curriculum of the music classes in the public schools is arranged to inculcate an understanding and appreciation of music. He said groups of 300 children will attend the rehearsals of the orchestra at the Fox Theater Saturday mornings. Mrs. Giles Scott Barker, president of the congress, reported on her trip to California, where she attended the national convention of parent-teacher associations.

GRAY BAROGRAPH SHOWS ASCENT OF 42,470 FEET

Highest Altitude Ever Reached by Man Made on Fatal Flight.

EQUALS FORMER MARK

The barograph of Capt. Hawthorne C. Gray, Army balloonist, killed recently on an altitude record attempt flight, showed 42,470 feet, highest altitude ever reached by man, the Bureau of Standards reported yesterday, to the War Department.

Capt. Gray carried two barographs on the flight which terminated fatally near Sparta, Tenn., and one of these, functioning properly throughout the flight, has been under examination at the bureau for the last two weeks.

That was exactly the same altitude reached by Capt. Gray on his second altitude attempt of May 4.

When Capt. Gray passed the 41,000-foot altitude last May he began to feel a pain in the chest, and acting on medical advice prior to the flight, valved his balloon causing it to descend very rapidly. When the balloon neared the ground, with all ballast gone, it was falling so fast that he jumped with his parachute in order to avoid serious injury. Because he failed to land with his balloon this record was not given official recognition by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, world authority on aviation records.

On his last flight the body of Capt. Gray was found with the wrecked balloon and the National Aeronautic Association will seek to have the former body recognize the record. The present record of 35,424 feet was made by Berenson and Suring, German balloonists, in 1901.

USE OF 'THIRD DEGREE' CHARGED TO POLICE

Counsel for Three Prisoners to Make Assertion at Trial Today.

Charges that headquarters detectives obtained statements from Edward F. Tate, Francis A. Kloss and George Wilcox by "third degree" methods will be aired today by a jury in Criminal Court No. 1, where these defendants are on trial on charges of housebreaking and larceny.

The indictments deal with the breaking in at the Cinderella Boot Shop, 1211 13 street northwest, on August 19, the looting of the safe at the Peoples Drug Store, Tenth and F streets northwest, of $2,240 on July 31, and the looting of the safe at O'Donnell's Drug Store, 1405 H street northwest, of $1,475 on July 13.

Detectives Kelly, Sweeney, Waldron, Fowler, Darnall and Fishery investigated the cases. Kelly and Waldron have already denied that any of the defendants were abused or forced to give oral or written confessions. Frank J. Kelly, counsel for the defendants, will present the third-degree charges this morning after the Government has closed its case. Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins appears for the Government.

Infantry Battalion To Parade on Ellipse

This afternoon at 4:40 o'clock the Third Battalion, Twelfth Infantry, Fort Washington, Md., commanded by Maj. O. H. Saunders, will parade in the Ellipse south of the White House Grounds, the Army Band furnishing music for the ceremony.

In keeping with the War Department's desire to experiment at length in use of motorcars for transportation of personnel and material, the battalion will be moved from the dock at the Army War College to the Ellipse and return by motor truck. Security in arrival and departure by truck will be made a feature of the ceremony to give the public an idea as to possibilities of motor transportation.

Three Policemen Made Detectives

Police Private James E. Lowry, recently promoted from a clerkship in the office of the Superintendent of Police to be a precinct detective at the Twelfth Precinct, yesterday was again promoted, this time to be a detective sergeant at the Detective Bureau.

Private Charles E. Warfield, of the Twelfth Precinct, also was made a detective sergeant, and R. L. Manning was promoted from prohibition enforcement officer to precinct detective, Twelfth Precinct, to succeed Lowry.

Privates W. H. Vermillion, J. T. Bassford and Herman Hols were retired on recommendation of the police retiring board.

CHANGE ADVOCATED IN TRAFFIC ACT TO AID MARYLAND AUTOISTS

Commissioners Approve of Plan for Reciprocity on Use of License Tags.

MCKINLEY ALUMNI FILE OBJECTION TO POOL

Advised to Make Complaint to Director of Public Buildings and Parks.

Maryland motorists authorized to drive in their own State should be permitted to drive District cars without having to get District drivers' permits, according to an opinion of Corporation Counsel W. W. Brice submitted to the Commissioners yesterday and approved by them.

This opinion is admittedly in conflict with the ruling of Judge McMahon, of the Police Court, in a recent case and results from the action of the Maryland legislature in liberalizing this year the State's attitude toward District motorists.

Maryland now permits District drivers to operate either District or Maryland cars without being subject to arrest. The District traffic code forbids motorists from other States driving any cars in the District except such as bear license tags of their States.

Bride said Judge McMahon's ruling was within the letter of the traffic law and regulations, but he expressed the opinion that Congress, in providing in the traffic act for reciprocity with the States intended that the District should be open to the States as the States do unto the District.

Harland Asked for Report.
The opinion will be sent to Director of Traffic William H. Harland with the suggestion that he promulgate a memorandum setting forth the gist of the new Maryland law and asking the superintendent of police to permit Maryland drivers the same freedom in the District Maryland extends to District drivers in that State.

The Commissioners denied a request by the Fox Theater to amend the police regulations as to Sunday amusements so as to permit moving picture theaters to begin their performances at 1:30 instead of 2 p. m. on Sundays.

A letter was considered from the McKinley Alumni Association objecting to the building of a swimming pool on the McKinley Technical High School grounds. The officers of the association held that the land for the school was bought solely for school purposes and that there existed no right to locate a swimming pool there "which will be of doubtful value to the students and will greatly curtail the use of the field for physical training and athletic sports."

Protest Made Against Pool.

The Commissioners ordered a reply sent to the effect that the pool is being built by the director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, that the Commissioners are powerless to stop the work, and that the association officers would better take up their complaint with the U. S. Grand Jury.

Plans for an eight-room building with auditorium for the Job Barnard Public School in Manor Park, on Decatur street northwest between the fourth and fifth streets, were approved.

The Citizens Service Association for Law and Order, which recently made an unsuccessful effort to have all liquor cases prosecuted under the Sheppard instead of the Volstead law because heavier penalties are attached to the latter, took up the topic with the Commissioners over the heads of the Superintendent of Police and the Corporation Counsel, with whom they discussed it before.

The Commissioners referred the communication to Corporation Counsel Brice for a written opinion as to whether District police and prosecutors have heretofore correctly construed the Volstead act as replacing the Sheppard law except as to the offense of drinking in public and drunkenness.

Army Awards Board Personnel Completed

Personnel of the newly created board to recommend awards of military decorations was completed yesterday with the appointment to the body of Brig. Gen. Frank Parker, of the General Staff, and Brig. Gen. James E. Fochet, of the Air Corps.

In addition to the two named yesterday the members of the board are Col. Andrew Moses, Field Artillery; Lieut. Col. Lorenzo D. Gasser, Infantry; Ensign A. E. Rydick, General Staff; Maj. Thomas C. Bourke, General Staff, and Capt. Frank O. Hunter, Air Corps.

Small Sized Currency Called Advantageous

The reduction in size, and other advantages of the currency to be issued, were pointed out by Alvin W. Hall, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, in an address at a luncheon of the Civitan Club in the Lafayette Hotel yesterday.

About 60 members of the club attended. Elections will be held in December.

Husband Accuses Former Wife.

The action of Francis M. Williams, wealthy resident of Del Ray, Va., to disavow a bill for absolute divorce filed by Mrs. Agnes M. Williams was overruled yesterday by Judge John C. Equity Court. Mrs. Williams attacked a Florida divorce decree obtained by her husband and named his second wife co-defendant. He contended that she had recognized the decree as valid and had given a party to celebrate her freedom. Following the overruling of his motion, Williams filed charges against his former wife concerning her care of their two minor daughters and he asked the court to take the children from her.

Slayer Pleads Guilty.
Robert Jones, colored, indicted on a charge of first-degree murder in connection with the death of Ruth Powell, also colored, at 3131 North street northwest, was allowed to plead guilty to second-degree murder yesterday, in Criminal Court, before Chief Justice John C. Equity. The accused slashed the woman's throat with a razor. The penalty for second-degree murder is from 30 years to life in prison.

Man, 75, Dies in Chair.
While sitting in a chair on the second floor of 3131 North street northwest, yesterday William Seaborn, 75 years old, 3687 Thirteenth street northwest, became ill and died before a physician from Emergency Hospital could treat him. Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt issued a certificate of death due to natural causes.

Conduit Road Meeting Postponed.
The meeting of the Conduit Road Citizens Association scheduled for tomorrow night at the Potomac Heights Community Church, has been postponed until Tuesday night, at the same place.

OVER HERE—OVER THERE—

CHECKED AT INTERSECTION ON HIS DRIVE TO HAZEBROOK, THERE WAS STILL ANOTHER WAY FOR MAD ENEMY TO ADVANCE TO THE ENGLISH CHANNEL. THE SALIENT NORTH OF HISTORIC UPRES, LESS RUGGED, BUT NATURALLY FORTIFIED, A HILL BY THE BELGIANS WAS TO FEEL THE BRUNT OF HIS ASSAULT.

ON APRIL 17, 1918, VON ARMIN, GERMAN COMMANDER, LAUNCHED HIS ATTACK AGAINST THE BELGIANS. TWENTY ONE GERMAN BATTALIONS WERE CROWNED IN A GOOD WARD OFF.

Repulsed by the Belgians

AT 8:30 A.M. WITHOUT PRELIMINARY BOMBARDMENT OR ADVANCE WARNING THE ENEMY TOLLED FORWARD. THE FIRST SHOCK PARSED THE BELGIAN LINE, AS THE BELGIANS BLENDED THEIR DISORDERLY ADVANCE.

BELGIAN REINFORCEMENTS SWEEPING IN WITH ALL THE FURY OF A HURRICANE, LAUNCHED A TERRIFIC COUNTER ATTACK. WITH MACHINE GUNS, RIFLES AND BAYONETS THE BELGIANS FORCED THE ENEMY BACK INTO A MARCH, KNEE DEEP IN MUD.

When the Smoke of Battle Lifted

THAT NIGHT, THE BELGIANS HAD TAKEN NEARLY A THOUSAND PRISONERS, AND HAD KILLED 2,000 OF VON ARMIN'S CRACK SOLDIERS. IT WAS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL COUNTER-ATTACK OF THE LUS BATTLE, BUT LUDENDORFF WAS UNDAUNTED.
